CLEVELAND, LOCKED IN BY STORM, FEARS FAMINE, FIRE, FLOOD

Three Men Are Dead, 10
Missing, Boat With 23 on Board Is Beyond Rescuers
and Snow, Already 21 Inches Deep, Still Is Falling—Property Loss $2,- 000,000.

FUEL AND GROCERY DELIVERIES CEASE

Streets Strawn With Poles and Wires, Funerals Cannot Be Held as Traffic Is Blocked—Sudden Thaw
Would Mean Flood.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 11. (Via private wire to Pittsburgh.)—Cleveland is lurid under 21 inches of snow; its streets are filled with a tangled mass
of broken and twisted wires and thousands upon thousands of its inhabitants are in imminent danger of suffering for lack of food. Three persons have been killed, 10 are missing and are believed to have been frozen to death and a great steamship is stranded on the beach, its captain and 22 sailors waiting for the death that may come at any moment because of the mounting snow rolling in from Lake Erie.

It is still snowing, and unless the storm which has continued since last Sunday soon abates, no one can tell what the ultimate toll in dollars and lives may be.

The loss is already estimated at $2,000,- 000, half of which will fall on the telephone and telegraph companies. Normal conditions cannot be restored within a week and if a thaw should come,
followed by the inevitable flood, the whole lake country will suffer severely.

Conditions Growing Worse.
Conditions have been growing worse
since Monday night, when half of the city was plunged into darkness; the lighting plant being blown down by the gale. This morning at least one of the street car service was out of commission and at least 3000 trolley, telegraph and telephone poles within
the city limits had been blown down.

So complete was the paralysis of transportation facilities it was deemed best to let the dead lie in the places
where they had died, and no funerals
will be held until the storm has abated.
There has been no delivery of groceries, bread, milk or coal since Saturday, and the suffering in consequence will be definitely lessened, but it is widespread. There is a sufficient supply of gas, and it is being used unparalleled in places fitted for it, that as many persons as possible are being heated.

One of the greatest fears is from fire. Already one fire has done $100,000 damage and the difficulties encountered
in subduing it were such as to cause
the authorities the greatest apprehension should another fire break out. Every possible precaution is being taken to prevent such a disaster.

The steamer on the beach at the mouth of the Lorain Harbor was captured by the J. G. Garner, Capt.
Burns of Buffalo. Life-savers are standing by, but are helpless to aid because of the heavy snow.

Every possible effort is being made to bring some order out of the chaos presented by the storm. Help is being given to the needy in every possible manner, the authorities having the assurance that such civic service was one of the common resources and of those persons who can spare time from their own wants to look after their less fortunate neighbors.

Today a glance through the debris-strewn streets led to the belief that days will pass before they can be cleared.

All the schools of the city are closed.
The danger attendant upon the passing of children through the streets and the unsanitary conditions surrounding them in the schoolhouses, many of which have been thrown open to the homeless,
prompted the authorities to suspend
classes until the storm abates.

The food shortage, felt Monday, became more pronounced and threatening today. There is no milk to be had at any price except it be obtained in the names of suffering babies and other humanitarianisms are rapidly going to a premium. Many families were caught with little more than the food supply required to carry them over Sunday, and as there have been no shipments received since Saturday, the supply is rapidly being exhausted.

Hotels Becoming Crowded.
The hotels present a scene of unusual activity. Many persons driven into the city by the storm have sought shelter where they could find it. Beds were not to be had for all of them, and many are sleeping on the floors without any covering except such clothing as they happen to have on them.

The food supply in the hotels and restaurants is also becoming exceedingly short.

Winter Is Resumed in West Virginia.
WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 11.—Snow falling this morning over the Panhandle of West Virginia and reports from other sections to the south and west show the storm is general.

Major Soars on Wings of Rhetoric at City Club

Advertising Men Hear Governor Eulogize Them
As John the Baptists of Business—His Scheme to Advertise Missouri.

Bright rhetorical daisies, rare exotic
flowers of metaphor, tropic palms of figurative eloquence and variegated blossoms of classic reference were the decorations at the City Club Tuesday afternoon, when Gov. Major of Missouri made one of his famous addresses before
the St. Louis Advertising Men's League.
The Governor was in fine oratorical fettle. Waving his arms, as it were,
and smelling the battle air off, he spread his wings and with resounding hoofbeats and a firm hand on the tiller
he steered the bark of oratory safely
into the garage.

From the Governor the advertising
men learned things about themselves
which they had never known.
Eulogized the Ad Men.
With a gesture which comprehended
all who were in the dining room, the Governor said:

"You are the John the Baptists of the industrial world, and your labors cause you to exemplify the scriptural injunction, which says: 'Let your light
so shine that the world will know you have the goods.'"

While the ad men were thumbing
their pocket Bibles in search of this quotation, Gov. Major shot this one over the metaphorical plate:

"You are the messengers of commercial progress and the forerunners of a richer civilization. As such, may it be your fortune to push the dome of Missouri's greatness still higher and higher in the sky."

The Governor paid this touching tribute to Missouri:

"In no other State do such golden opportunities rush forth to meet those imbued with the success of life. Education and good roads have made Missouri known the world over."

"Golden Spears of Progress." Reverting a few minutes later to his pet hobbies, he said:

"Education and highways are the avenues over which must pass the triumphal march of industrial glory. Neglect them and the golden spears of progressive achievement will rust in the sunlight and the commercial fabric will crumble like a house of clay."

The Governor also paid his compliments to St. Louis.

"It is the truth," he said, "that in six months last year more freight came over the arches of commerce of St.
Louis than went through New York or any other city on earth."

"When Daniel Boone drove his ox team over that frontier highway, he brought with him the spirit that lives today. Love, hope and ambition came with him down that highway to make free."

Chicago Postoffice Inspector
Declares Wagon Driver Is Guilty Man.

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—Thief of money and jewels valued at $10,000 from a mail sack was disclosed by Col. James Stuart, postoffice inspector here, today.
The crime is alleged by Col. Stuart to have been committed by Albert Tardy,
a mail wagon driver.

The theft occurred yesterday. Tardy collected five mail sacks containing registered packages, at the South Water street, Masonic Temple and Stock Exchange substations.

Suspicion was aroused when the wagon, containing four of the sacks, was found abandoned at the Union Station.
These sacks contained $4000 in money
and gems which had not been disturbed.

Tardy's wife, found today, said Tardy visited her for a few moments last night. She said he told her that he had stolen $10,000 from a mail sack and would write to her as soon as he had escaped "across the border."

He gave her a small sum of money,
she said, and left, saying that he would catch a midnight train. Whether for the Canadian or the Mexican border he did not state, she says.

Col. Stuart said Tardy served one term in the Missouri penitentiary for stealing a horse, and another term for Joliet for attempting to steal a truckload of trunks.

Tardy was employed by H. G. Steger,
who has a contract with the Postoffice Department to provide mail wagons for the city. Steger is under bond to make good any losses suffered through him.

The robbery was committed in broad daylight and was witnessed by several persons. Instead of driving to the postoffice, where he was due at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Tardy went to the railroad station and backed his wagon
up among a number of others that were waiting there.

With only passing curiosity other drivers saw him unlock the door of the wagon, saw him rip open one of the sacks and stuff the contents into his pockets. They saw him walk away a short distance and then break into a run.

OUSTS RELATIVES, ELECTS HERSELF HEAD OF BUSINESS

Mrs. W. C. Nolan, Displeased,
Takes Control of Realty Firm
From Brothers-in-Law.

KEEPS KEYS TO OFFICE

Says Meagher Concern's Profits
Dwindled After Brothers Succeeded Her Husband.

Mrs. Winifred Comer Nolan of 3212
Dodder street has ousted her two brothers-in-law—Frank X. and William M.
Nolan—from their respective positions
of president and secretary of the William A. Meagher Real Estate Co., 828
Chestnut street, and in a summary election has chosen herself as president, following a conflict over the conduct of the business.

Mrs. Nolan has retained an attorney to advise her and her brothers-in-law
have done likewise in anticipation of a court fight over the concern, which formerly, she avers, conducted a rental business amounting to $15,000 a month.

Her Husband Was Injured.
Eight months ago Mrs. Nolan's husband, John A. Nolan, who for many years was in complete control of the Meagher Real Estate Co., suffered a mental breakdown as the result of an accident in which his head was injured.
He was sent to St. Vincent's Asylum,
where he is now, and his wife was appointed his guardian.

To continue her husband's business,
Mrs. Nolan formed a company and selected her two brothers-in-law to manage the concern. She later became dissatisfied with their management because, she says, the profits gradually decreased until she was getting scarcely any return at all.

Mrs. Nolan believed her brothers-in-law were not taking her into their confidence to the extent that her interest in the concern required, and after demanding to see the books, and being refused, she consulted an attorney, and
following his advice, held the election,
which made her president, last Saturday.

After ousting the Nolan brothers, she changed the locks on the office doors and herself retains the keys. She also hired expert accountants to examine the books and accounts to determine the exact status of the concern's affairs.

Mrs. Nolan Tells Story.
Mrs. Nolan told a reporter this story about the affairs of the concern:

"I was going to approve of it—my brothers and I were going to the office during the absence of my brothers-in-law and taking a seat at the desk of Frank X. Nolan happened to glance over the want ad page of a newspaper.
A pencil-marked advertisement attracted her attention. It offered for sale a half interest in a 'good-paying real estate business.' She suspected the half interest referred to was that which she owned in the company."

Pretending she knew all about the advertisement, she casually asked the clerk if her brothers-in-law had received many replies to the offer. He told her they had. A few minutes later, when the two brothers came in, she demanded to know if they were "trying to sell out." They denied having had anything to do with the advertisement.

Mrs. Nolan was not satisfied. She went to her home and induced one of her servants to telephone the office of her brothers-in-law and inquire about the advertisement. She says the tenant was informed it had been inserted by the Nolans.

Elects Herself President.
Mrs. Nolan's next step was to consult an attorney, and on his advice she called a meeting and, after ousting the Nolan brothers from their official positions, elected herself president and treasurer, her brother, M. T. Comer, vice-president, and James H. Clark, a clerk in Attorney John S. Leahy's office, secretary.

She then notified her brothers-in-law
of her action and requested them to vacate the office premises. They protested that her action was arbitrary
and irregular, but obeyed her command to go. She next employed an expert accountant to examine the books of the concern.

Clients Request Accounting.
The Nolan brothers gave up their control last Sunday afternoon and all of Monday, she says, there was a steady stream of clients at the office requesting an accounting of their business with the firm. Mrs. Nolan, who was in charge, notified the customers there was no money in the company's treasury so far as she had been able to find out that they would have to wait until the affairs were finally adjusted.

"They tried to put me out," she told a reporter, "and I just turned the tables on them. That is all there is to
it. They have never given me an accounting of the company's business and I do not know what shape it is in. I do know, however, that it is dreadfully rundown."

The Nolan brothers, when asked for a statement, referred a reporter to their attorney, Chester H. Kern, who refused to discuss their side of the controversy
at this time. He said, "Publish her side of it if you wish. We will make our statement later."

Bacon Comes From Canada.

duty on bacon formerly was 3 per cent
and the new tariff cut abolished it.

MISS WILSON'S TROUSSEAU HAS NO FASHION EXTREMES

White House Bride-to-Be and Her Mother Taboo Minarets and Slit Skirts—Pink and Lavender Ruling Colors.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—With her trousseau virtually finished and arrangements for the wedding completed, Miss Jessie Woodrow Wilson, daughter of the President, has returned to Washington,
a very tired but supremely happy young woman.

She spent three days in New York, but Saturday noon saw everything arranged,
and hearing a sigh of relief Miss Wilson boarded the Congressional Limited for home.

A fifty-seventh street modiste is supplying the entire trousseau, while a famous woman milliner of West Forty-sixth street, has made all the hats greatly to enhance the frail blonde beauty of the wearer, whereas the more vivid tones might tend to create too severe a contrast. Most of the gowns are being made on very straight lines.

The extreme minarets, peg top, and slit skirts have been discarded by both Mrs. Wilson and the bride-elect. The latest and most graceful of draperies are largely affected, the gowns being for the most part trimmed with like material, instead of varied trimmings.
The hats are larger and flatter than
the most fastidious are wearing this season, but it is this style that Miss Wilson most affects and, realizing their becomingness, she does not allow the prevailing fashions to influence her in her selections.

Accompanied by Miss Clark,
When Miss Wilson called at the dressing establishment for her final fitting, Friday afternoon, she was accompanied by her mother, Miss Genevieve Clark, and the latter's cousin,
Miss Frances Stockwell, with whom Miss Clark has been staying. Miss Wilson, however, proved herself to be consistently feminine by refusing to give either Miss Clark or Miss Stockwell a glimpse of her trousseau. She did not say whether she believed in the old superstition regarding the shielding of the bride gown; she merely said she preferred to try it on alone.

When the finishing touches had been given a photographer made pictures of Miss Wilson, covered as she will appear on her wedding day.

Congressman James H. Mann of Illinois admitted today that the wedding gift which the members of the House of Representatives will send Miss Jessie Wilson will be a pendant and chain and a jewel box.

Gifts for Miss Wilson Come From Distant Lands.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The family
circle at the White House is busy these days in opening boxes, breaking seals and unraveling packages of every shape and size—all containing presents for Miss Jessie Woodrow Wilson, who is to be married Nov. 15 to Francis
B. Sayre.

Some of the gifts have come from officials in distant lands. Strict secrecy, however, is being maintained as to the nature of the presents.

WILSON DISCUSSES EMBARGO ON ARMS WITH HIS CABINET

President and Department Heads Go Over Mexican Situation and Decide to Continue Present Policy; Let It Be Known That Washington
Would Welcome a Refusal by All Foreign Governments to Loan Money to Huerta.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The Cabinet met today with all members present except Secretary Wilson. The Mexican topic was foremost. The raising of the embargo on arms which has been urged on the President and the Secretaries, was discussed at length.

Indications today were that the American policy toward Mexico, which it was hoped the nations of the world would follow,
still was "hands off."

The general interpretation of the situation was that the United States, by giving foreign powers detailed information of its determination to refuse to recognize the acts of the new Mexican Congress, had indicated a desire that the powers refrain from financial dealings with the Huerta Government.

So far as could be learned there has been no specific request for support by the powers, but there has been a plain intimation that the Washington government believes the collapse of the Huerta regime inevitable if foreign aid be withheld.

With the intention to regard as illegal
any loans or concessions the new Congress may undertake, there has been distinct intimation that a policy of acquiescence by foreign governments
would be gratifying to Washington.
Without financial aid, and with its machinery of government pronounced illegal, officials here expect to see a state of affairs that may force Huerta to eliminate himself.

After a two-hour discussion devoted principally to the Mexican situation,
the Cabinet meeting broke up and, as
on previous occasions, all the members preserved absolute silence.

WARNING TO HUERTA
ISSUED BY BRITAIN

By Associated Press.
LONDON, Nov. 11.—A significant warning to President Huerta was issued today by the Westminster Gazette, the Government newspaper. Commenting on Premier Asquith's Gold Hall speech, in which he made it plain that no antagonism exists between England and the United States in regard to Mexico, the Gazette says:

"The idea that any valid election in the sense in which democratic constitutional countries understand the word—can be held in Mexico, is probably a diplomatic fiction, but the electoral test was of Gen. Huerta's own choosing, and it is well to keep him minded that his failure to conform to its result leaves all governments free to reconsider their acts of recognition."

"Briefly, the limits of British action are that the British Government should not put itself in a position of making protests which in default of forcible action might be flouted and defied. But diplomacy has other resources than mere force and provisional President Huerta
may early find that the attitude of this country is in a variety of ways a matter of great moment to him."

Newspaper Comment on Speech.
Asquith's reference to Mexico at the Gold Hall gave intense satisfaction to the London morning newspapers. The Times in an editorial says:

"They will be read throughout the empire with heartfelt satisfaction and we are confident that this satisfaction
will not be less deep or general across the Atlantic. The Premier's words effectively dispose of the stories of strained relations between the two countries, stories which were never even plausible."

The Times then proceeds to comment
upon a long statement appearing in its columns "from a quarter eminently qualified" to interpret the American standpoint, and particularly to explain President Wilson's motives.

Speaks at Lord Mayor's Banquet.
Mr. Asquith discussed the Mexican situation at the Lord Mayor's banquet last night.

"Our interests in Mexico call for vigilant care," said the Prime Minister.
"Mexico is in the throes of a civil war,
but there never was and never has been any question of political intervention by Great Britain in the domestic concerns of Mexico, or in the Central or South American states."

"It is no part of our duty to prevent revolutions or control civil wars. The utmost we can do is to give watchfulness to the domestic situation. There is not a vestige of intervention for such a rumor."

Why Huerta Was Recognized.
"We have recognized President Huerta because, having neither the will nor the power to interfere, we were bound to deal with the de facto government, and because, according to information then in our possession, there appeared to be no element except that of Huerta and

SENDS ROSES TO GIRL, ENDS LIFE AT HER HOST'S HOME

George Woodson Drinks Cyanide Near House Where Nellie Hutcherson Was Guest.

After sending a bunch of roses to Miss Nellie Hutcherson, 18 years old, George Woodson, an engraver of 1817 Chouteau
avenue, drank a fatal draft of cyanide
at potashum in the front yard of C. F.
Elliot's home, 269 Rutgers street, where Miss Hutcherson was visiting, Monday night. He died on the way to the city hospital.

Miss Hutcherson, who lives in Oklahoma, has been at the Elliot home two weeks. When she made a visit there about two years ago she met Woodson and went to several places of amusement with him.

After she returned to Oklahoma they exchanged letters, but she quit writing to him last January. She says they were never engaged.

Monday afternoon Miss Hutcherson and Elliot went shopping downtown. While they were absent a boy delivered a large bouquet of roses. Woodson's card was tied to it.

Miss Hutcherson returned home and had just read the card and placed the roses in water, when a noise was heard in the front yard. She and Elliot went out and found Woodson unconscious.

BROKER AWAKES, FINDS HIS HOUSE IS BURNING

William Burg Rushes Wife and Son From House; Sends in Timely Alarm.

William Burg, an iron and steel broker, was awakened by smoke in his home
at 429 Washington boulevard, at 3:15 a.
m. He aroused his wife and son, Chester. When an attempt was made to use the telephone to turn in an alarm it was found to be out of order. The alarm was telephoned from a neighbor's house.
Firemen extinguished the flames in a few minutes. The fire started in a pantry. Burg estimates the damage at $400.

MONUMENT FOR A HORSE

MEXICO, Mo., Nov. 11.—Rex McDonald, champion saddle stallion of the world, who died here yesterday, 22 years old, will be buried in the front yard of his owner, B. R. Middleton, and a handsome granite monument will be erected to mark his grave.

His hide will be mounted and preserved in a local public building. The animal husbandry department of the State University tried to obtain the hide
to mount and place in their museum.

his supporters which affords any prospect of the restoration of stability and order.

"That was on March 21. Very shortly afterwards in answer to our inquiries we were informed by the Government of the United States that, as regarded the recognition of President Huerta, no definite answer could be given, except that they would wait some time longer before recognizing him.

Policy Remains Unchanged.

"Since then there has been no change in the policy, and no departure of any kind. The change of Ministers to Mexico involved no change of policy. We have the right to assume that whatever policy America adopts she will have regard for the legitimate commercial foreign interests in Mexico, as well as her own.

"There has been an interchange of views with the utmost frankness and cordiality on both sides. Our diplomatic relations with the United States has been for a long time such that, with the freest frankness of discussion on all matters which might from time to time arise, we both feel the fullest assurance that nothing can happen to disturb our common resolve to attain and maintain a sympathetic understanding."

HUNDREDS JOIN RUN ON BANKS

Crowds Gather at Paying Tellers' Windows in Mexico City; New Money to Be Coined.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 11.—The run on the National Bank and the Bank of London and Mexico, which began Saturday morning, had not abated at the closing hours, was resumed today. The doors were locked at the usual time last night, but depositors within the buildings continued to march past the paying tellers' until 4 o'clock. It was impossible to obtain an accurate statement of the amounts withdrawn but the aggregate was large.

The Government announced that it intended to order the immediate coining of $2,000,000 pesos in 10-cent pieces the coin recently made legal tender, but there is doubt if this amount can be put out in time to satisfy the public.

The volume of silver currency in circulation in the capital was much larger than usual but a tendency to hoards was indicated by the fact that some of the stores were cashing paper only at a discount. At some stores the customer was asked if he had the exact change for the purchase and if not the sale was refused. The credit all system inaugurated last week has not proved popular.

The attitude of John Lind, President Wilson's representative in one of expectancy. He said that there had been no further indications of what course the Washington Government intended to take.

Emiliano Zapata, the rebel whose operations have caused the Government so much trouble in the Southern States, is again on the point of surrendering, according to official information issued today.

An embassy from Zapata is said to have conferred with provisional President Huerta, who offered the rebel a safe conduct to the Federal capital in order to conclude peace.

It is not generally expected that Zapata will accept the proposal.

Portugal Plans Advance Huerta to Re-serve From Presidency.

LISBON, Nov. 11.—Gen. Porfirio Diaz has advised Gen. Victoriano Huerta to resign from the presidency of Mexico. Two friends of Gen. Diaz, each acting separately and by authority of the ex-President, sent telegrams to Gen. Huerta last week to this effect.

Gen. Diaz said it was not a question of whether Huerta was the best for the presidency, nor was it a question of whether the revolutionaries were right or wrong; it was a question of patriotism. He counseled Gen. Huerta to resume any feelings of personal prestige or power and thus have Mexico from a minority.

Gen. Diaz said he would have telegraphed to Gen. Huerta himself, only he had thus far taken no direct step in Mexican affairs since he left the country and would prefer to convey his conviction through friends of his and of Gen. Huerta's.

Submarine Wheeling Sent to Turpan to Protect Foreign Property.

YENIA CRUZ, Kan., Nov. 11.—The United States submarine wheeling is proceeding to Turpan, 16 miles northwest of Vera Cruz in response to an urgent telegram from the American Consular Agent, Arthur C. Payne, who advised Rear Admiral Fisher that 40 rebels were about to attack the town and a warship was needed to protect foreign property.

Movement to Border Leaves Only 20 Men at Port.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Nov. 11.—The second squadron of the Fifteenth Cavalry under command of Capt. Caspar C. Cole left Fort Leavenworth today over the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific line for Fort Bliss, Tex., to relieve a squadron of the Fifth Cavalry on the Mexican border.

Only 20 men besides the signal corps companies remain at the post here.

and of Americans Starts on Return to Southern Seneca.

NOGALES, Ariz., Nov. 11.—A little troop of Americans departed today to return to their homes in the Yaqui River district in Southern Seneca. They were among the 100 Americans who arrived at San Diego, Cal., two months ago, on the steamer Buffalo.

Already nearly one-half of the refugees have returned to their homes in the district, which normally is populated with Americans.

The returning refugees can travel by rail only as far south as Maytorena, less than half the journey. Their homes are about 500 miles below the border.

Germany to Send No More Warships to Mexican Waters.

BREITENBURG, Nov. 11.—It was officially declared by the German Office here today that the German Government does not intend to send any more warships to Mexico.

"The battleships Kaiser and Koenig Albert and the cruiser Strassburg, which have been ordered to leave Germany early in December, are not to visit Mexico," it was stated. "Their orders are for purely technical and commercial reasons."

McCLUNG DEFENDS USE OF 'RINGS' TO END 'DOPE' SYSTEM

Smuggling in of Drugs to Prisoners Must Be Stopped, Declares Warden.

WILLIS IS NOT INJURED

Convict Who Was "Strung Up" Says He Will Never Again Disobey Rules.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 11.—Whether to handcuff convicts to rings above their heads as punishment and to induce confessions, or run the risk of having great quantities of morphine, opium, heroin tablets and cocaine distributed through underground channels to prisoners, is the real problem which Warden McClung told a Post-Dispatch reporter today that he is confronted with.

This problem has been brought strongly to the attention of the public through the 30 days' punishment in the "rings" of Steve Willis, a St. Louis convict, for distributing whiskey and "dope" among his prisoners.

Warden McClung, State Treasurer Deal, chairman of the Board of Prison Inspectors, and State Auditor Gordon and Attorney-General Barker, also of the prison board, take the view that the punishment to which Willis was subjected during 30 days was neither cruel nor inhuman and that it was necessary for the protection of the health and morale of the 2500 prisoners in the institution to force a confession from him to stop the traffic in poisonous drugs.

During the last few months, according to Warden McClung, the prison has been flooded with heroin tablets, a dangerous derivative of complex ethers and morphine.

Created Many "Dope Fiends."
The sale of these drugs to prisoners has created many "dope fiends," he declared, and threatened to undermine the entire system of prison discipline.

In the drawer of his desk, McClung had thousands of morphine and heroin tablets, a quart can of opium and other drugs that he had intercepted in his efforts to discover the underground routes by which the stuff was being taken into the prison.

Willis had been under surveillance for several months and was found with a bottle of whiskey in his pocket. After he was sent to punishment, 2000 heroin tablets were found where he had secreted them in the prison.

The cell in which Willis was confined was four feet wide and six feet long. In the end of the cell there was a steel ring six feet from the floor. He was handcuffed to this ring for 30 days from seven to nine hours a day, and even a diet of bread and water. While standing in the cell he was able to move a space about three feet.

The cell is not dark. Willis was strung up each morning between 7 and 8 and let down at 3 p. m. He slept at night in the cell on the bare concrete floor.

Willis told the Post-Dispatch correspondent that he felt no ill effects from the punishment other than a stiffness of his arms and physical weakness.

"While in the rings," he said, "my arms got tired and numb, my back ached and my legs ached. The punishment was severe enough that I shall not again disobey the rules of the prison. There has been no permanent injury to my health and my eyesight has not been impaired."

Sees Warden's Point of View.
"In a few days, as soon as I regain my strength, I shall be back at work. From my point of view I was unfairly treated by being punished, but I can see where, from the Warden's point of view, that I deserved punishment."

Willis is 5 feet 10 inches tall and during his punishment his hands were handcuffed to the ring two inches above his head. There are no marks on his arms from the handcuffs, other than slightly callous places.

Warden McClung declared that the punishment was not more severe than had often inflicted by teachers in the public schools.

The Rev. Father H. A. Gelsert, assistant chaplain of the penitentiary, who has endeavored for years to stop the traffic in drugs in the prison, said that the punishment was not nearly as severe as the torture of a "dope fiend" without his drug. "He said he did not regard the punishment as cruel or inhuman."

McClung States Position.
"The question is simply this," said Warden McClung. "Are we going to permit 2000 prisoners, who will not obey rules, to demoralize, to poison, to destroy the usefulness of 2500 prisoners who have never disobeyed a rule or been reprimanded?"

"Drugs have been persistently peddled in the prison. Men go to the prison doctor and beg him to let them out of the hospital to keep them out of the reach of the dope. The prison cannot be run as a Sunday school, and some system of punishment must be maintained. The rings are the only punishment we have and we do not think it is cruel. Former Warden Hall tried to run the prison on Sunday school regulations and this resulted in a dynamite explosion and a stench which caused the death of four men."

"These tablets are frequently sold at 1 cent. I have heard of a case where one man paid 7 for two tablets. These drugs are being run into the prison by outsiders, who for the sake of a few dollars would work the discipline of the institution and make dope heads of every prisoner."

"We must stop it. To punish a few men to put an end to this nefarious business in the interest of thousands of other prisoners, I think is the most humane thing I can do." McClung said he believed that the confessions obtained from Willis would lead to the detection of the sources from which the drugs were

MRS. BLAKE DROPS ALIENATION CLAIM ON MRS. MACKAY

Wife of Noted Surgeon Dismisses $1,000,000 Action Which She Had Filed.

CASH PAYMENT DENIED

Reported From Other Sources That Facts at Hand Were Insufficient to Support Charges.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Arthur C. Train, attorney for Mrs. Clarence H. Mackay in the suit brought by Mrs. Blake to recover $1,000,000 for the alienation of the affections of her husband, Dr. Joseph A. Blake, the noted surgeon, made the following announcement today:

"The action commenced by Mrs. Joseph A. Blake against Mrs. Clarence H. Mackay for $1,000,000 for alienating the affection of Dr. Blake has been discontinued. At the time Mrs. Blake signed a consent to the discontinuance of this action she executed an instrument releasing Mrs. Mackay from all claims of every description and character."

"Not one cent has been paid or promised to Mrs. Blake by Mrs. Mackay or by anyone acting for her or in her behalf for the discontinuance of the lawsuit or for the execution of the release."

Train declined to tell why the $1,000,000 action had been withdrawn, as did George Gordon Battis, the attorney for Mrs. Blake.

Cornelius J. Sullivan, attorney for Dr. Blake was asked if the discontinuance of Mrs. Blake's suit against Mrs. Mackay would make any difference in the separation suit that was brought recently by Mrs. Blake against her husband.

"Not a bit," said Sullivan, "the separation suit has not been withdrawn, and, so far as I know, will not be withdrawn."

"It is likely that the discontinuance of the alienation action of Mrs. Blake against Mrs. Mackay will result in the reconciliation of Dr. Blake and his wife."

"It is safe to say that there will be no reconciliation and that the separation will be prosecuted," she said.

Success of Suit Doubtful.
From other sources, it was learned that Mrs. Blake had discontinued her suit against Mrs. Mackay solely because she had come to the conclusion that she did not have sufficient legal grounds on which to push the action to a successful conclusion.

It was said by those closely in touch with the marital entanglements of the Mackays and the Blakes that there was no prospect of a reconciliation in either family.

taken into the prison. He has the names of three outside men who are said by convicts to have sold them the dope to be retailed in the prison.

At prison prices McClung said the tablets and opium he had confiscated in his efforts to catch the persons who sold it was worth more than $1000. Drastic measures were necessary, he said, to protect the inmates of the prison from the "squaremen" on the outside and their confederates on the inside of the prison.

Congressman Would Stop Whipping of Delaware Convicts.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Barback whipping of six Delaware convicts at Newcastle on Nov. 8, brought a resolution from Congressman Evans of Montana today, proposing that Attorney-General McKeen should bring injunction proceedings against the State of Delaware to force the Federal prohibition against "cruel and inhuman punishments."

Congressman Evans expected his resolution to be passed.

Fight Starts on Bellefontaine Car; Suspect Is Arrested.
John H. Novemacher, 32 years old, of 3488 North King's highway, a passenger on a Bellefontaine street car, was struck on the head with a monkey wrench in a fight and his skull was fractured.

James Kelly, 23, of 2302 Alamo avenue, was arrested, charged with striking Novemacher.

Kelly and a companion were standing on the rear platform of the car when Novemacher got on, carrying a baby chair. As the car gave a lurch the chair struck Kelly in the side, and a quarrel resulted.

UNIVERSITY CITY'S CHARTER ATTACKED IN SUPREME COURT

Prosecutor Lashly Seeks to Oust Mayor Heman and Other Suburban Officials.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 11.—A quo warranto proceeding to test the validity of the incorporation of University City by E. G. Lewis and his associates was filed in the Supreme Court today by Arthur Lashly, Prosecuting Attorney of St. Louis County. The suit was brought at the relation of Thomas L. Mauldin, Charles E. Sharp, George Haid and B. E. Loscher. The court is asked to oust Mayor August Heman, the City Council and other municipal officials from office.

The purpose of the suit is not apparent unless it has to do with the issuance of bonds for municipal uses.

This is the second time the incorporation of University City has been attacked in the Supreme Court. The first time the proceedings were dropped after their filing and no decision of the Supreme Court on the validity of the incorporation has been had.

The validity of the charter is attacked upon the following grounds: That all the persons signing the petition upon which the County Court acted were not bona fide residents of the district; that the court refused to ascertain the identity of persons signing the petitions for incorporation; that much of the 1946 acres of land included within the municipality was uninhabited.

John A. Blewins and John W. Lewis, the latter City Attorney of Wellston, asked 15 days in which to make a reply. George C. Mackay filed the suit for Lashly.

PROTEST AGAINST PAGE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—"This is a protest in an effort to have some of our Ambassadors keep their mouths shut part of the time," said Senator Chauncey D. Bennett, presenting petitions to the Senate from the Federated German Societies and the Robert Emmett Society of Oregon.

The memorials protested against an alleged speech by Ambassador Fries in London, in which he said that Americans were growing more like the English every day.

Diamonds Disappear From House.
Mrs. Louis Valenti of 113 Oregon avenue has asked the police to inquire into the loss of two diamond rings worth $100, which were missed Sunday. She said two employees of a furniture house exchange a chiffonier at her house Saturday. The diamonds were missed some time after they left.

"HIGH COST" COMMISSION

Chicago Mayor Names New Body to Study City Living Problems.

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—Chicago has a "cost-of-living" commission. It was organized last night, when Mayor Harrison sent to the City Council his list of appointments to the new Municipal Markets Commission, which will make a study of municipal markets with a view to cutting down housekeeping bills.

The commission will endeavor to determine to what extent consumers would profit by the establishment of municipal markets, and is authorized to investigate all food-handling agencies.

BRYAN GIVES OUT HUERTA'S REPLY TO U. S. IN FULL

Note Transmitted by O'Shaughnessy Believed to Be Only Answer Washington Will Get.

SITUATION IS REVIEWED

Provisional President Makes Plea for Recognition and Indicates He Will Not Retire.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Secretary Bryan has made public the full text of the statement made by Querido Moheno, Mexican Minister of Foreign Relations, to the foreign Ministers to Mexico, Sunday.

In many quarters it is believed that this will be the only reply that Huerta will make to the many representations made by the United States to the existing Government of Mexico.

The note, which was transmitted to Washington by Charge d'Affaires O'Shaughnessy, is as follows:

"In conformity with provisions of article 8 of the Constitution, and in view of the lack of a President or a Vice-President and of the Secretaries of State and foreign relations, the provisional presidency devolved upon the Secretary of the State and the Department of Gobernacion, and Gen. Victoriano Huerta, who from the time by the ministry of the law has discharged the duties of the office.

Recognized by Congress.

"Thus, in accordance with the will of the Mexican people, formally made manifest in the constitution of Feb. 6, 1913, there remained established the presidential successor and the unquestionable legality of the present Government. The Congress of the Union and the Supreme Court of Justice of the nation solemnly recognized without objection the new ruler.

"In this way the three branches of the Government continued the functions by whose conduct the Mexican people exercise the national sovereignty in accordance with articles 39 and 50 of the same constitution.

"The political program of the provisional Government, constituted in this manner from that time, has been defined perfectly and concentrated on two fundamental propositions: To re-establish peace until extraordinary elections might be held in compliance with the already cited article 81 of the Constitution, in order to turn over the executive power to the one designed by the popular will at these elections, and to respect and make respected the law.

"In compliance with this program, the executive launched a call for elections, taking care that there should be fixed for their holding a time which he deemed prudent, not only that the preparatory work might be carried out, but also that the republic might return to a state of order, which had been deeply disturbed in some of the Northern frontier states, and also, though in a much less degree, in other sections.

"Acting in accord with the initiative of the executive and in compliance with the constitutional precept quoted, the Congress of the Union convoked special elections to be held Oct. 28 last, since it was believed, that by the time peace successfully would be established in all the republic and fair elections guaranteed.

"In order to comply with the second of these proposals, the executive made clear his respect for the other governmental powers, but unfortunately, one of the houses of the legislative power, the Chamber of Deputies, attempted in such manner to invade the prerogatives of the executive as to refuse in some cases to recognize the judicial power, and the conduct of some of its members who are shielded by their constitutional exemption from arrest publicly were fomenting and even leading the armed rebellion, reached such a pass as to make the impossible harmonious action with the executive, without which any government would go to pieces.

Forced to Dissolve Congress.

"The President of the republic was forced to dissolve the Chamber of Deputies as a necessary measure for the salvation of the republic, for, as he did, the state of anarchy, which inevitably would have been brought about if he had continued to tolerate revolution in one of the constituted branches of the Government, and as the Senate could not alone function constitutionally, he declared the Congress dissolved.

"But as it has never been the proposal of the executive to govern outside the Constitution, he took care immediately to conduct elections to constitute a new Congress and solely in the meantime assumed extraordinary faculties in the departments of Hacienda, Gobernacion and War, where such action was indispensable, and this was done with the solemn promise to give account of the use which he had made of such powers to the new Congress as soon as it shall be installed.

"It also was a move of especial care and attention of the ad-interim Government to respect and uphold the judicial power, which continues without any hindrance in its august mission of seeing that individual guarantees are respected, so the march of the public administration has continued without other obstacles than those which a state of internal strife, which even yet prevails in some portions of the republic, perforce brings with it.

Congress to Meet in Few Days.

"The elections of President and Vice-President of the republic and of deputies and Senators to the Congress of the Union already have been held. Congress will be installed within a few days and in accord with the Constitution will pass upon the election of President and Vice-President and will render a decision as to their validity or nullity.

"At the approach of the date fixed in the call for the holding of elections the President of the republic learned that his numerous friends were putting him

300 MEN OUT FOR GOOD ROADS DAY IN EAST ST. LOUIS

Tuesday is East St. Louis Good Roads day and Mayor Chamberlin and President Thrasher of the East St. Louis Commercial Club are heading a force of 300 men who are improving State street from Thirty-third street to Edge-mont, a distance of three and a half miles. The road is used by truck carriers who supply the East St. Louis market and the improvement being done on it is for their benefit.

For the purpose of encouraging rivalry and resultant effort and excellence, Mayor Chamberlin divided the road into districts and placed a man in command of each district, with the promise that he would give a dinner to the squad that does the best work. The men in command of the districts are: C. F. Merker, J. Dombhoff, M. J. Walsh, E. J. Kurus, N. A. Schein, W. S. Beckwith, S. T. Le Page, F. Payeur, F.

Warning, E. Goedde, H. S. Kramer, E. L. Woodson, C. M. Horner, R. R. Thomas, T. L. Fiketa and G. M. Bringers.

Business men who could not get away to work on the road sent substitutes or teams. The East St. Louis & Suburban Electric Railway Co., which operates over the street, sent 30 loads of cinders to be used in filling mudholes and ruts. Cinders were also sent by the Aluminum Ore Co.

Work started promptly on the blowing of the 8 o'clock whistle and the gangs all worked hard until 12 o'clock, when they had half an hour for lunch, which was provided by East St. Louis women and consisted of sandwiches, cake and coffee, served along the route.

Quitting time is to be 5 o'clock. The city sent the "weed and grub" men are known who have been cutting weeds and cleaning along the route. The good roads day had been postponed twice on account of bad weather. Mayor Chamberlin was on the scene forenoon and expressed his determination to stick it out to the very end, doing his full share of the heavy work.

Never expect to get back a hot sun, do you? But Post-Dispatch and Found Wants have a second day storing even umbrellas.

ward for the first magistracy, and as he was known with article 71 of the constitution, he could not be elected. In a desire to avoid erroneous or mischievous interpretations, and as there was not time to make known his views to the friends who were putting him forward, he made a most solemn declaration before the honorable members of the diplomatic corps accredited to the Government of this republic that the votes deposited for him in the ballot boxes would be null and of no value and that even in the event, legally impossible, that the new Congress should declare him elected President, he would not accept the office.

The first magistracy, inspired by his patriotic zeal, called together the candidates of the various parties, contemder in the electoral struggle, and in a solemn ceremony in the presence of the entire Cabinet repeated the declaration made before the diplomatic corps and called upon the candidates in the name of patriotism of which they gave unquestionable proof, that they manifested solemnly before the nation if any one of them should be appointed by the polar vote all the others should collaborate, morally and patriotically, influencing their partisans that the President-elect should be respected and assisted in his function, whatever might be his party affiliation.

"And this they did, at the same time
manifesting to the Mexican people that if none of the candidates obtained the number of valid votes to be President of the republic would co-operate to sustain the constituted Government to the end the popular will might be consulted at a more propitious time—this is to say, when peace in the republic would permit citizens in all parts of the country freely to cast their votes.

"Now, in spite of the true reports
which the Government has received,
there exists presumption that because of it having been impossible to carry on the voting, in the number of polling places prescribed by law, so the election
may be considered as the true manifestation of the will of the people. It is foreseen that said presidential election will be declared null and void, and the national President wishes to make known once more to the country and to the whole world that, in accord with his determination, he will continue exerting himself for the pacification of the country, in order to be able to guarantee absolute freedom and efficiency of the new elections which Congress must call.

"As a necessary consequence of that declaration, in the same manner he wishes to make known once more, before friends and outsiders, that, being respectful toward the law and persuaded that by virtue of his having occupied
the post of President of the republic,
while the election was being held, he considers himself constitutionally impeded from being validly elected and will
on no account take into consideration
the votes which may have been cast in his favor, and no matter what may be the resolution of Congress, he will not accept in this case the constitutional presidency of the republic.

"Relying, as the President does rely,
upon the solemn and important offer of the honorable citizens who figure as candidates for the presidency and vice-presidency and who represent all the political parties of the republic, and so the governments of the world will recognize without exception that only the present Government can call new elections and guarantee their freedom and efficacy, he hopes to fulfill easily within the period which Congress shall designate, his sacred duty of consulting the national desire to conserve by the suffrage of the people the executive who is to rule definitely the destinies of the country.

"Otherwise, the realization of the executive's program would not be possible
within a long period of time.

"This program consists of peace and legality, which are the only mediums
in which the elections may become the expression of the true popular will in which the individual native as well as foreigner may enjoy full guarantees, and in which the economic development of the republic may permit all social classes to gather the fruits of their labors and the products of their capital.

"By indication of the constitutional
president ad interim of the republic,
Gen. Victoriano Huerta, and with the unanimous approval of the Cabinet
formed by Lic. Manuel Garcia Aldape, Kemio Garcia Narando, Rafael Re-
bollar, Jose Maria Lozano and Adolfo
de la Lema, as well as Gen. Aurelio Blanchet and Lic. Agustin Garza Gal-indo, sub-Secretary of Justice, now charged with the administration of that office, I have the honor to acquaint the highly esteemed Government of Your Excellency through Your Excellency's honorable office with this general orientation of the policy of the Government of the republic, to the end that all of the cultured countries by whose friendship Mexico is honored
may do the executive the justice of recognizing his honest and patriotic effort is intended solely to bring about the well being and prosperity of the Mexican Republic.

"I have the satisfaction of renewing
to Your Excellency on this occasion
the assurance of my distinguished consideration."

MORE PLAY, LESS WORK IN KANSAS CITY SCHOOLS

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 11.—Radical changes in Kansas City's school system, so as to provide more play and less work, are to be introduced to the schools. All home study or work is to be eliminated, and the whole system designed to lessen the nervous strain on the pupils.

More attention is to be paid to the physical side of the child and less to the mental in the grade schools. The education of the child is accomplished in the high school, but under the present system in the ward schools, the tendency is to unfit the child for the serious work of education to come in the high schools.

The plan now is to build up the physical side of the child in the grade schools, cultivating the mind just enough in the rudiments to prepare it for high school work. The open-air work in the grade schools will be along instructive lines.

All along the line the studies in the grade schools are to be pruned, instead of being separated as to new, mental and written arithmetic are to be combined, and some studies are to be dropped altogether.

$25 FOR SCARING A DOG

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 11.—The Missouri Pacific Railroad must pay Mrs. J. P. Gallagher of this city $25 damages for the loss of her pedigree collie dog. In coming here from St. Louis a year ago, the dog was led through the Union Station to be placed in a baggage car. An engine blew steam into the dog's face. The animal slipped its collar and fled.

Mrs. Gallagher could not find him and sued for $200. The dog had won first prize in many kennel shows.

EMPLOYERS MUST PAY TAX FOR $18,000 MEN

Treasury Department Rules Against Their Relinquishing Part of Lesser Sums Now.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Hired men whose pay is less than $18,000 a year will not find their checks short, the odd change demanded for income tax this year, according to the latest ruling of the Treasury Department. The ruling says the employer need not withhold the tax from employees for 1913 unless he pays them more than the exemption during November and December. The exemption permitted for this period is $200 for single and $250 for married men. The 1914 tax will be collected from employers, however.

All the unmarried men drawing more than $2000 a year and married men more than $2000 a year will be asked to make statements of their 1913 income before March 1, 1914. These statements will be called for after New Year's and the law is sufficiently retroactive to demand back payment for the year.

EAT LESS MEAT IF YOUR KIDNEYS HURT OR YOU FEEL BACKACHY AND RHEUMATIC

Too much meat forms uric acid in the blood, which clogs kidneys; causes Rheumatism and irritates the Bladder.

If you must have your meat every day eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acid so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder trouble.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.—ADV.

TRAINMEN OF EAST GET $6,000,000 INCREASE IN WAGES

Seven Per Cent Raise Granted by the Federal Board of Arbitration.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—An increase of 7 per cent in wages, amounting to $6,000,000 yearly, was last night awarded the trainmen and conductors of the Eastern railroads by the Federal Board of Arbitration, which since Sept. 19 has been considering the demands and grievances of the men.

The award is considered a substantial victory for the employees, the consensus of opinion having been that they would receive from 5 to 8 per cent advance.

The board's findings affect 41 railroads operating east of the Mississippi and south of the Potomac River and the 30,000 trainmen and 20,000 conductors they employ. The roads serve 61,000,000 people, or approximately half the population of the United States, and expend annually in operating expenses more than $100,000,000.

The men asked a 15 per cent increase, standardization of wages the country over and numerous other concessions. They were particularly anxious to receive as much pay as the trainmen and conductors on the Western roads. This was not allowed, but they were put on a parity with employees of the systems of the Southeast. Thus, they are still below the Western workers.

In making the award the board took into consideration the increased cost of living since the last increase in wages in 1910. This was found to be 7 per cent, the precise advance granted. The board takes pains to state that it "has not found its action entirely on the increased cost, though it looks upon it as basic." Apparently the increased cost of living had more effect than all other arguments.

DR. PECK, GIVEN UP LAST SPRING AS DYING, COMES BACK

He Works Late Into Nights on Encyclopedia and Helps Edit a Magazine.

TELLS HOW HE RECOVERED Says He Gained After Christian Science Practitioner Was Called In.

By Lensed Wire From the Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Dr. Harry Thurston Peck, formerly Anthon professor of Latin at Columbia, has "come back."

Given up as dying by physicians last spring, pictured by one of them as suffering from paralysis and reported generally as seriously impaired in mind, he is now working until 3 and 4 o'clock of mornings in his study at Riverside, Conn., as editor-in-chief of the revised edition of the International Encyclopedia, of which he was one of the original editors. Between times he is assisting in editing the Bookman, a preparing material for two or three new books and is riding from 16 to 20 miles a day on horseback about Greenwich and Coe Cob.

"By the way," he said, "I have made my peace with the people of Columbia and recently received a letter from President Butler, whose biography I am writing for the International Encyclopedia. I wrote to Dr. Butler telling him I would rather like to take a few days at him in a work of reference like the International Encyclopedia. Dr. Peck laughed. 'I haven't done it.'"

Shows His "Padded Cell."

Dr. Peck received a reporter and talked freely for a long time on many subjects in which he was interested. He said laughingly that he was glad to show the "padded cell" in which he said he understood he was confined.

"You will find it liberally 'padded,'" he said, as he led the way up the stairs "but with pictures and books."

Dr. Peck moved into his present home in July from the home of his divorced wife, Mrs. Cornelia Baldwin Peck, at Sound Beach, only a mile or so away. This former wife had taken him from a hospital in Ithaca, where he was seriously ill, May 5, so he might complete his recovery.

As Dr. Peck put it, Ithaca physicians were not ready to discharge him from the hospital, so he was "benevolently kidnapped." He has continued to improve steadily ever since, until now he is within six pounds of his normal weight of 175 pounds.

Doctors Said He Couldn't Live.

"But the physicians said I could not live. One of my friends took one of the physicians aside and asked him in confidence just what my condition was. The physician told him I would probably die that night and advised him to remain at the hospital if he cared to be at my bedside when I passed away."

Dr. Peck did not say that it was his first wife who brought Christian Science into the case, but it has been generally known among his friends that Mrs. Peck is bringing all the agencies of her own faith to bear in her desire to effect the recovery of her former husband. Dr. Peck continued: "A Christian Science practitioner came in that day. I was unconscious at the time. He spent some time with me and started away, saying 'The case is won.'"

"My friends urged him not to go away, since I was still unconscious. The man said there was no use of staying longer, and repeated that the case was won. I recovered consciousness some hours later and began to improve. I do think that physicians cannot always estimate correctly the recuperative powers of a patient, and thus may prophesy his immediate death when he really is strong enough to fight himself to health again."

"Maybe Christian Science cured me; maybe the practitioner came in at the psychological moment when I would have begun to improve without his aid. I will tell the facts and let you draw your own conclusions. After I came to Sound Beach a dentist filled a tooth for me and he put filling in tight over an abscess, which, of course, he ought not to have done. The tooth began to pain me that night. I suggested having the dentist or a physician called. Mrs. Peck, my former wife, urged that I call Dr. Cook, who was called to give me absent treatment."

Relieved by Absent Treatment.

"I ridiculed the idea of absent treatment from an abscessed tooth. It was pointed out to me, however, that it would take about eight minutes to get a physician and 20 minutes more for a hypodermic injection or other quinine agent to become effective. On the other hand, it would take only the time to call on the telephone to receive absent treatment from the Christian Science practitioner. I finally consented to the calling of the latter with the provision that if I were not relieved within eight minutes I would call a physician. Seven minutes later the pain began to let up. In eight minutes it was practically gone."

and in 10 minutes I was asleep. The next day I went to the dentist and had the filling taken out.

"Perhaps the pain was just about to end when the Christian Science practitioner was called and perhaps he cured the pain."

"I have been reading 'Science and Health' and the other Christian Science books this summer and fall. I have studied them all. So far as my own long a Christian Scientist is concerned, I make a sharp distinction between Christian Science and Eddyism. 'Science and Health,' which is attributed to Mrs. Eddy, but which some say she didn't write—I don't know whether she did or not—is a very useful, convenient and for the most part sane and able presentation of the best in Christianity, Confucianism, Buddhism and in the Greek and Roman and more modern philosophies."

Cells Eddyism Tomorrow.

Scattered through this excellent material—the results of the religious feeling of generations and ages, are what I call Eddyisms and these I consider the worst tomorrow.

"In one place she says in effect that it is said that man once took his newborn babe and held it under water for five minutes; then tried the experiment for longer and longer periods until the child could swim about under water and disappear itself generally like a fish."

"This proves," Mrs. Eddy says—I forget what she said it proved—but of course it doesn't prove anything. A report that is so unverified that its telling begins 'It is said,' don't prove anything at all and there is a strong likelihood that the report in this instance was untrue. In another place she has deductions on a legendary manuscript which scholars long ago proved never existed—but Mrs. Eddy didn't know that. When I have a little more leisure I am going to write a monograph on Christian Science as I understand it, in which I will enter into these matters more fully."

WOMAN PLANS FIRST SPINELESS CACTUS RANCH

Mrs. E. V. Pickrell, 74 Years Old, Orders 700 Burbank Plants for Her Farm.

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 11.—Mrs. E. V. Pickrell, 74 years old, of this place, is to establish the first spineless cactus ranch in the Southwest. She has recently returned from California, where she ordered 700 of Burbank samples and will plant these on her farm near here and later increase the amount. Each plant will grow 50 slabs a year and make excellent and cheap fodder for horses, cattle, hogs and even poultry.

The spineless cactus is a semi-tropical plant and will not grow or thrive where the temperature reaches zero. That low temperature, however, is very rarely reached in El Paso. In addition to the slabs used for fodder, the plant also bears a fruit that is pleasing to the taste. It somewhat resembles the orange. The plant also may be cut into strips and fried or boiled. In fact, those who have sampled the cactus food have found it very appetizing.

This cactus will grow in any place that is not too damp. It requires no water and it thrives on alkali soil. While the plant produces rapidly, it does not spread, and the little shoots must be taken off and transplanted. In two weeks after a plant has been set out it is covered with these shoots. The cactus is quite hardy, needs little care and is of little expense. Other crops in the Southwest need irrigation. The spineless cactus, of course, will thrive without irrigation or water. Mrs. Pickrell believes her move will be the salvation of stockmen and solve for them a perplexing problem, as the cactus will give them abundant food for cattle when other crops and grass are a failure.

Word of 'On To Mexico' Anxiously Awaited But Purely in the Scientific Spirit.

WIRELESS, NEW RIFLES

Officers Want to Try Out the Improved 'Made in Leavenworth' Military Machine.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Nov. 11.—There is a group of studious, earnest men on the Federal reservation here who are awaiting an order of "On to Mexico" with great anxiety.

They are the men who, since the Spanish War, have built up the "Made in Leavenworth" army that now represents the military strength of the United States and though without any spirit of malevolence, they are anxious to see this man-killing machine tried out.

The Spanish War, although brief and successful, showed plainly that the time for a change in the military affairs of the United States had come. The first move was to sweep aside the jealousies of the four great states of the Southwest and let it be known that military training as taught in the school at Leavenworth was the thing.

War Machine Welded. In the years that have followed the war, teachers at Leavenworth have welded the various parts of the army—the medical and those of sanitation, equipment engineering, discipline and communication—into a machine that needs some severe test to show how well the work has been done.

That is the reason these men want to invade Mexico—to test the war machine they have built and see where the mistakes are and how serious are the defects.

In hours of idleness these men study the best maps available of Vera Cruz and vicinity, for they are convinced that that port is the striking place. They have no relish, even with their high-powered machine, for trying to cross the 600 miles of practical desert that spreads across the north portion of the country. The four railroads, these men know, are practically worthless and are in the hands of the enemy.

War as Outdoor Test. One of these men who wants a war as an outdoor test of this laboratory-constructed army disposes of the capture of the City of Mexico as settled with the landing of the first fighting detachment at Vera Cruz. He says: "It would be only the aftermath of the capture of the City of Mexico that the new army would fear. It is one thing to take a nation's capital and another to occupy a hostile territory of thousands of square miles. We learned that in the Philippines when we took Manila with the loss of a dozen men and spent three years and hundreds of lives attempting to hold the archipelago."

The new army, in short, is pretty proud of itself and believes that an actual campaign will show the wonders that have been accomplished in the way of co-ordination and scientific professional advance since the Spanish War. "If I were to attempt to draw a picture of contrast between the army of 1898 and that of 1913 I'd depict the Mexican mule with a wireless outfit strapped on its back. The eternal mule, for the past and present army, and that wireless equipment for the last word in the perfection of the system of information and communication in which the army has shown its greatest scientific development in the last decade."

No More Jealousy. "Prior to the establishment of the service schools, of which we have four here at Leavenworth, the army consisted of several branches, each maintaining a separate standard and an attitude of suspicion and jealousy toward the other. Now there is none of that. We work together on the Leavenworth system. "For instance, the officers here at the school of the line take a course from the chief medical officer here on military hygiene, one from the chief signal officer on the system of communication and so on. In return the chief signal officer learns himself away from his wireless and aviation problems and the medical officer from his study of typhoid inoculation long enough to attend lectures given in the art of war and tactics by the members of his own class who are experts in those branches. It makes for a co-ordinated army."

Numerous Changes. "The changes in the last 15 years have been so numerous as absolutely to change the art of war. I can mention but a few of them. We have had three new rifles since 1898. In each the trajectory was flattened appreciably. The present rifle throws a bullet in an almost straight line toward the target. Its line of flight—its trajectory—is as different from the old Springfield used in the Spanish War as would be the flight of a tennis ball tossed by a small boy from Christy Mathewson's fast straight ball."

"This flat flight has made it possible for one bullet to lie close enough in its single line in action where before we had three or four at stated intervals. The present bullet would go through the several lines one after the other. "The greatest single invention has been that of the army field telephone and equipment. It has made possible the present system of invisible firing. Nowadays in a battery of artillery only one man is visible to the enemy. He has a range finder and directs his concealed battery of artillery through a field telephone. The gunner finds in practically a instant and transit combined. The other using it directs his gunners by angles, which they switch their guns to correspond with."

Three Great Inventions. "Of the three great modern inventions applicable to war which have come into international use since the Spanish War, but one has failed. That is the automobile. Long after there are no horses on the streets of the big cities there will yet be no other motive power in the great armies of the world which have to fight over uncertain countries. There are, however, motor cycles used in connection with the handling of dispatches by the signal corps in the South-ern camps at Texas City and Galveston. "The other two inventions, wireless and the airship, will completely revolutionize warfare. The wireless is already a practicable military asset. The equipment of the signal corps consists of two machines. One with a radius of 120 miles, which is to be assigned to each division headquarters of the mobile army, is for the most part transported in wagons. The other is the new light equipment which weighs less than 100 pounds, is transported on three mules and which has a sending radius of at least 20 miles. "Including the pole, which is of six lengths of 10 feet each, and which joins together like a fishing rod, it can be assembled in two and one-half minutes. That is, a message can be sent and has been sent within two and one-half minutes from the time the last mule has put his hoof to the ground. "The signal corps has also made some wonderful records with the field telephone and telegraph equipment. The modern field equipment consists of a wagon reel, not dissimilar from that of the fire hose cart of a city department. The wire is unrolled and can be run off at a gallop in a roadway. Galloping behind the truck is a mounted man with a pole with a convex end with which he pushes the wire to the side of the road. Behind him the cavalry drops linesmen who throw the wire without other instruction than its own protective covering into the bushes. Each cart carries five miles of wire. This has been laid and put into operation in 20 minutes. "In aviation the United States through the lack of congressional appropriation, has lagged far behind foreign countries. Still, if we should go on the road to Mexico we would have a fleet of eight ships, manned by army officers and observers, to lead the way and to gather information in a manner which would shock and surprise our inventors of 1898."

Charles F. Gallenkamp, Surveyor of the Post, Tuesday offered the second floor corridor of the Federal building as a haven of refuge to the collectors of the Hospital Saturday and Sunday Association, whom Postmaster Selph will not permit to solicit contributions on "Tag Day," Nov. 22, in the old Post office, now the downtown substation, on the first floor of the building.

Gallenkamp is custodian of the building. He said Selph's rule against "Tag Day" collections in the Postoffice and its branches was in accord with a Government regulation, which applies to all Government buildings. But Gallenkamp said he would be willing to lift the ban in the Federal building if neither the Postmaster nor anyone else should object to his doing so.

When Selph was told of this, he said he would refer the matter to the Postoffice and the 25 substation, which would include the downtown station, and that it would be enforced unless revoked by a higher authority. The downtown station, formerly the main postoffice, is the Postmaster's office for a part of each business day.

Officials welcome "taggers," Gallenkamp then said that, as the Postmaster's domain did not extend above the first floor, the collectors would be permitted on the two upper floors, if none of the officials on those floors should object. Inquiry among those floors would make objection in fact, those questioned said they would welcome the taggers.

Chief Attorney Houts, Assistant Attorney General, chief counsel to the secret service office, and Clerk of the District Court, were among those who said they would be glad to have the "taggers" in the corridor near their offices, and far from making any objection, would gladly welcome the taggers.

While the collectors can reach the employees on the second floor, they will not reach a large part of the public in this way, as they might do on the first floor.

According to Gallenkamp, the protest against Selph's ruling which David R. Francis, president of the Hospital Saturday and Sunday Association, wired to Postmaster-General Burleson, should have been addressed to him. To Selph, Secretary of the Treasury, Gallenkamp said, has control of Government buildings, and it was that official who, last Christmas, issued an order suspending the rules and permitting the sale of red cross seals in postoffices.

Francis sent to the Postmaster-General a long telegram Monday night. In it he explained the purpose and methods of the organization, and said that last Christmas, he had collected $4,000 for the red cross collections at the postoffice and branches aggregated $15.60. No Postmaster ever before made objection to the use of the postoffice corridor for this purpose, he declared, and no complaint, as Francis knew, was ever made by any individual as to the practice.

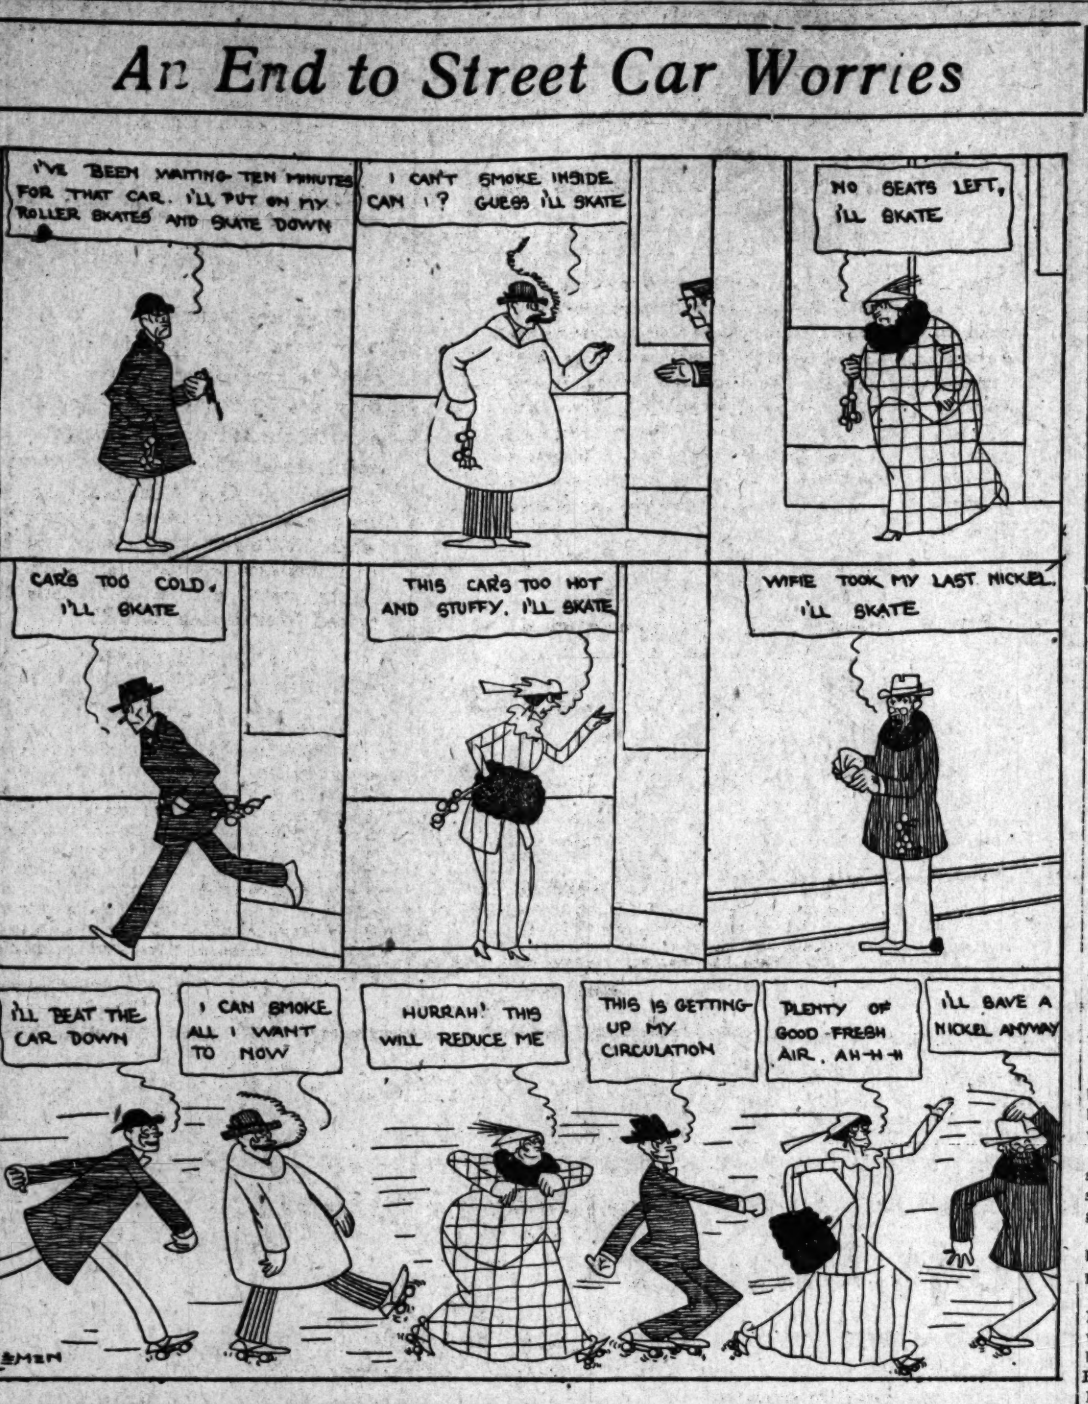

Asks Suspension of Order.

"The association," he said, "is greatly pleased to learn of a regulation prohibiting such practices. Can you not suspend this order for Nov. 22?"

"I will cheerfully suspend it. If you wish me to move the postoffice to the second floor, I am willing to instruct the Postmaster to do so," he said.

In the absence of any special instructions, I follow the rules of the department, and one of these rules prohibit any soliciting in postoffice buildings from employees or from the public.

As I said in my letter to Gov. Francis, the Postmaster, in fact, has suspended this rule for Nov. 22 or any other day," he said, "I will cheerfully suspend it. If you wish me to move the postoffice to the second floor, I am willing to instruct the Postmaster to do so."

here on his own authority, does not justify me in doing so.

A side issue of the Selph-Francis controversy has arisen, in the complaint of Mrs. Charles Cummings Collins of 20 Lenox place, chief worker for the Charity ball, to be given Tuesday night, for the benefit of the Night and Day Camp of Tuberculosis. She said tickets sent to several persons were missing from the envelopes received by them, and she did not exactly like some of the things which, she declared, Selph said in a telephone conversation about the matter. But she said she had no intention of adding to the Postmaster-General's troubles by sending a complaint to Washington.

Selph also gave his version of this matter, saying Mrs. Collins did not make complaint to him, in the first instance, but to an afternoon newspaper. The newspaper questioned him, he said, and he then called up Mrs. Collins and told her that several of the tickets were lost from envelopes. He asked her to send him a sample of the tickets, and she did so, including a ticket. With this as a basis of inquiry, he said, he found some 35 of the tickets including tickets which were being held because they had not been sufficiently addressed. She promised to call and correct the addresses, Selph said, but she has not done so.

"Conversation Pleasant."

"In the course of our conversation, which was wholly in a pleasant tone," said the Postmaster, "Mrs. Collins said, 'Don't you think I'm a cute little person?' I said I did think so. What else could I say?"

He sent back the ticket which she inclosed in her letter. This, he said, was because he receives so many tickets that he cannot afford to buy all of them. Sometimes the number is twenty or twenty-five a day, he remarked.

Selph's Tone "Jocose."

Mrs. Collins said she was not disposed to criticize Selph for not taking the ticket, and denied that she had said, as a morning paper quoted her as saying, that she had hoped he would be "good enough sport" to buy the ticket. She said his tone in the telephone talk was "jocose," but she added, "perhaps that was my fault, for in work of this kind I am interested heart and soul, and try to be as friendly with everyone as possible, and in that way one sometimes unconsciously invites jocose remarks by others."

The work of addressing the letters was done by others, she said. While she said the 35 wrong addresses might have been due to the mistakes of these employees, she had not thought it likely that they left the tickets out of any letters.

ASKS A GUARD AT HOME TO PREVENT THEFT OF PAPERS

Believing that an attempt is being made to enter his home at 815 Pennsylvania avenue to steal valuable papers, Bartholomew Fox, treasurer of the Fox Clay Products Co., has asked the police to guard the home.

Fox says six attempts to break into the house have been made in the last two months. Fox's father, who was president of the clay products company, died recently and members of the family suspect a certain person whose name they will not divulge is trying to steal papers belonging to the estate.

The last attempt, according to the report made to the police, was at 8:15 p. m. Sunday, when Bartholomew Fox, his brother, Thomas, and his sister, Dolores, were dining.

Thomas Ryan of 6413 Minnesota avenue, a brother-in-law, was visiting the Foxes at the time. They heard a noise at the kitchen window.

"It is a family affair," he said, "and I am trying to get valuable papers from my house. There is a tangle, both business and domestic. I don't want anything said about this. It would injure our chances of straightening out the tangle."

The older Fox long had been a resident of Carondelet. He was reputed to be wealthy.

PROGRESSIVES ASK INVESTIGATION OF KEOKUK DAM RATES

A resolution condemning the Keokuk Dam Co. and the North American Co. for selling water power current in St. Louis at rates based on the cost of bituminous coal was adopted at a meeting of the Progressive Party League at the public library Monday night.

Dr. W. H. Cotton, who offered the resolution, read extracts from Post-Dispatch recent expose of the dam companies' contracts, in support of his contention that an injustice was being done to users of current supplied from the dam.

The resolution charged that the Keokuk Dam Co. and the North American Co. in excluding competition within a radius of 30 miles of St. Louis are violating the Sherman anti-trust law.

It was voted to ask Senator Poinsett of Washington and Representative Murdock of Kansas, both Progressives, to call the resolution to the attention of Congress.

ZELIE EMERSON DANGEROUSLY HURT BY A POLICE CLUB

American Suffragette, Injured Rescuing Miss Pankhurst, Has Concussion of Brain.

KEPT SECRET FIVE DAYS

She Thinks It Would Be Fine to Die for Cause—Militants Wreck Buildings.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Miss Zelle Emerson, the American suffragette, whose home is in Jackson, Mich., has concussion of the brain said to be the result of a blow from a London policeman's club. Miss Emerson was hurt while rescuing Sylvia Pankhurst from the police.

For five days the real extent of her injuries was kept from the public, but when the Home Office physician declared her condition was critical, the following bulletin was issued:

"The most serious of Miss Emerson's injuries is a concussion of the brain. Everything is being done that medical and surgical science can do. The condition of the patient, however, is discouraging, and it must be confessed that the prognosis is unfavorable."

Miss Emerson recovered consciousness and at once asked eagerly about her condition.

"If I could die," she said, "it would be fine for the Cause—to die from the blow of a club. It would wake up the whole world."

Miss Emerson is 24 years old, and for several months lived in Chicago, where she engaged in warfare work with shop girls.

Militant suffragette arson squads and bomb troops were at work in several parts of the British Isles early today.

The Cactus House at Alexandra Park, Manchester, containing an art collection valued at $20,000, was wrecked by a bomb. Begbrook, a fine mansion near Bristol, was badly damaged by fire. The Bowling and Tennis Club's house at Catford, southeast of London, was burned down.

On the scene of all three outrages, suffrage literature and petroleum cans were found, but no view as to the identity of the incendiaries was found.

'SPUGS' FROWNING EARLY ON USELESS CHRISTMAS GIFTS

Believers in Society for Prevention of Needless Giving Are Recruited in St. Louis.

Christmas is coming and the Spugs

are already here. Remember the Spugs S. P. U. G.—Society for the Prevention of Needless Giving—started last year in New York, but hardly in time to get much of a foothold in St. Louis.

The movement may not become so general here as to apply to exchanges of gifts, however, unless they may be, by individuals. The form which it has taken here is that of a protest against semi-enforced giving by employees to foremen and bosses in factories and other business establishments.

Working people and their leaders say this has become a real abuse, and that it has amounted, in many cases, to a tax on the small earnings of unwilling donors.

In the Postoffice, gifts to department heads have been prohibited by a general order of Postmaster Selph, prohibiting solicitation among employees for donations of any sort at any time.

In some shoe factories the Christmas gift system has reached the proportion of an organized graft, according to Mrs. Sarah Spraggon, president of the Women's Trade Union League. She does not blame the heads of the establishments for the custom, and says that some of them have recognized the evils of the practice and have taken active steps to stop it.

In several factories, Mrs. Spraggon has been informed by members of the league, orders have been issued to stop the practice. She was told of two cases in which, last year, foremen were required to return gifts of money made by their subordinates. This year, she says, rules against such gifts have been made in several other factories.

Factory girls have complained, Mrs. Spraggon says, that they had to "chip in" for presents for their bosses, feeling that refusal would cause them to be blacklisted. In some cases, it has been charged, the bosses went so far as to ask favored subordinates to start subscription lists.

She Companies Forbid It.

Officials of several shoe companies said either that orders had previously been issued against such gifts, or that levard.

She had just returned to the city from Houston, Tex., where she had visited relatives, and she and her husband were driving home from Union Station in their automobile coupe. As they turned into King's highway at a moderate pace, a taxicab that had been taking passengers in front of the Washington Hotel started suddenly and, wheeling sharply to the left, hit the Lasar machine on the right side, crumpling the fender and the body and breaking all the glass in the coupe.

H. J. Hickman, the chauffeur, who had not stopped his engine, explained that his clutch had accidentally caught, causing the accident. Mrs. Lasar was cut and bruised. Mr. Lasar was badly shaken up.

GIRLS ARE WARNED TANGO WILL RUIN THEIR FIGURES

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—If American women, who have been known as the most beautifully molded in the world, want to retain their figures they must beware of the debilitate slouch and the tango, bunny hug, turkey trot, one-step and other of the latest popular dances.

This warning was issued by 30 corset saleswomen of Chicago stores after they had seen three women—stout, thin and medium—put on corsets.

According to the demonstrators the tango and it allies develop the hip bones excessively, throw the hip bones forward, cause rolls of fat to form at various places and "would make a potato sack of a Greek goddess."

WOMAN, HATING ALL MEN, TRIES TO KILL HERSELF

Mrs. Alice Byrne Will Survive
Effects of Poisonous Drink.

Mrs. Alice Byrne, 34, who tried to kill herself by swallowing carbolic acid in the winery of Frank R. Schwaninger, 1501 South Grand avenue, Monday night, refused, Tuesday, at the city hospital, to give any explanation of her act, except that she "hates all men."

She swallowed enough of the acid to cause death almost immediately, but its effects were neutralized by whiskey she drank with it.

Mrs. Byrne entered the winery alone and called for whiskey into which she poured the acid. A doctor, who was called, compelled her to drink more whiskey, to further neutralize the effect of the acid, and sent her to the city hospital.

She gave her name as Mrs. Alice Cunningham and said she was employed as a housekeeper by W. E. Wahlert of 2601 Henrietta street. Tuesday she said Cunningham was not her name and she knew no one by the name of Wahlert, but she had used these names in buying the acid from a druggist on South Grand avenue. She will recover.

DISTURBER IN SALOON IS TIED WITH A ROPE

Breaks Showers and Fights Proprietor's Brother When Drunk is Refused.

After Daniel Bunning, 24 years old, a plasterer of 183 North Newstead avenue, was found tied hand and foot in a rear room of John Krause's saloon at 631 Easton avenue late Monday afternoon, he was held on a charge of disturbing the peace.

Employees and customers of the saloon told the police Bunning entered the place intoxicated and Vincent Egan, the bartender, refused to sell a drink to him. Bunning then attacked George Krause, the proprietor's brother. He was put out of the saloon, but a few minutes later returned and broke a glass cigar case with his fist. Again he was put out.

When he returned a third time the bartender and customers roped and tied him and telephoned to the police. Bunning spent the night in the dispensary inebriate ward.

LAWYER DIES A WEEK AFTER NECK IS BROKEN. W. E. R. Kemp Expires Soon After Being Taken Home From Hospital. W. E. R. Kemp, 25 years old, a lawyer, whose neck was broken Nov. 3 when he stumbled and fell into the basement at his home, died Monday night at his home, 503 Von Versen avenue, a few hours after he had been taken home from the Deaconess hospital at his request. He was conscious until a few minutes before he died.

His wife, to whom he was married a year and a half ago, had been almost continually at his bedside since the accident.

Kemp was strapped to a cot in the hospital in a rigid position so that movement of his body, head or limbs was impossible. KIEL'S ASSISTANT SECRETARY TO WED A KIEL RELATIVE

Miss Pearl Wilson MacCoy Will Become Bride Soon of Dr. H. L. Wichmann.

MAYOR INTRODUCED THEM

Ardent Suffragist, She Yields Independence Only in Discussing Wedding.

Miss Pearl Wilson MacCoy, Mayor Kiel's assistant secretary, is to be married soon to Dr. H. L. Wichmann of 3223 South Jefferson avenue. She will resign her political position Saturday.

Miss MacCoy is one of the leading suffragists of St. Louis, an outspoken champion of woman's independence and the equality of the sexes. So she surprised a reporter who tried to interview her concerning her forthcoming marriage by telling him:

"I cannot discuss it. My fiancé has forbidden me to do so. Anything that is said must come from him."

That any male person should forbid Miss MacCoy to discuss any subject in which she took an interest and have her quiescently submit to the prohibition seemed so strange that the reporter asked her if she were going to surrender any of her opinions concerning woman's independence and equal rights.

Introduced by the Mayor. "Not at all," replied Miss MacCoy, "except in this one particular. I will continue just as active publicly in woman's cause as I have ever been. And Dr. Wichmann is a suffragist, too. We were introduced by Mayor Kiel."

Dr. Wichmann is a widower. His first wife, a sister of Mayor Kiel, died two years ago.

Miss MacCoy lives with her mother at 310 Washington avenue. She was formerly secretary to the Republican City Committee, which gave her the name "The Committeeman From the Twenty-ninth Ward."

The only man, politicians say, who ever tried to tell "Committeeman" MacCoy just what she should or should not say—with the notable exception of Dr. Wichmann—was Jephtha D. Howe when he was chairman of the committee and she was secretary. Howe was not so successful.

So Howe said there would either have to be a new secretary of the committee or a new chairman. Within a month there was a new chairman, but Miss MacCoy remained as secretary.

Miss MacCoy is a second cousin of President Wilson. Her grandfather and President Wilson's father were brothers.

sat in a room with point lace that was worn by her mother at her wedding. The bride's attendants will wear pink, save Mrs. McMullin who will wear her wedding gown. They will carry pink roses.

When Mr. Scott and his bride return from their wedding trip they will be at home at 420 Laurel avenue.

Miss Francis A. Lane will give a reception Tuesday, Nov. 26, at her residence, 3440 West Pine boulevard, to present her granddaughter, Miss Helen LeRoy Lane, to society. Miss Lane is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel T. Lane.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Murphy, who have moved from 304 Skinker road to 712 Belt avenue, have as their guests Col. and Mrs. T. G. Dulany of Hamblin, Mo.

Miss Bell Lane of West Pine boulevard gave a small tea Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock for Mrs. Herbrand Harvey of London, England. The guests were old friends of Mrs. Harvey's and among them were: Miss Margaret D. Elliot, Miss Elsie Patten, Miss Penelope Sturgeon, Mrs. William G. Pettus, Mrs. Wilson.

KIDNEY AND BLADDER TROUBLES DISAPPEAR

Chronic Sufferers Always Find Relief From Few Doses.

If you are bothered with backache—or rheumatism, have disagreeable, annoying bladder disorders to contend with—or suffer with any other of the many miseries that come from weak kidneys, here is a guaranteed remedy you can depend upon.

It is a positive fact that Croxone promptly overcomes such disorders. It soaks right in, cleans out the stopped up kidneys and makes them filter and sift out the poisonous waste matter from the blood. It neutralizes and dissolves the uric acid that lodges in the joints and muscles, causing rheumatism; soothes and heals the delicate linings of the bladder.

More than a few doses of Croxone are seldom required to relieve even the obstinate, long standing cases.

You will find Croxone entirely different from all other remedies. It is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it without results.

An original package costs but a trifle, and your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price if Croxone fails to give the desired results the very first time.—ADVERTISEMENT.

A broad agricultural policy!

The management of the St. Louis, Southwestern Railway Company has adopted a broad, comprehensive policy in the development of the agricultural resources along its lines. A policy that not only promotes the immigration of farmers to its territory but that extends to each farmer a practical co-operation that helps him to succeed.

What the Cotton Belt Route does for the farmer who locates along its lines

The Cotton Belt Route has established an agricultural department, in charge of an experienced agriculturist (formerly an official of the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.) whose duty it is not only to interest farmers in migration to Cotton Belt territory, but to locate them where they will be most likely to succeed; and to teach them to grow the crops that will pay best where they locate.

This department is in constant co-operation with state experiment stations and agricultural colleges and spares no expense to give to farmers every fact on crop growing or stock raising that would be of help in increasing their farm profits. A free correspondence is maintained to answer questions on agricultural topics.

An important link of this policy of "practical co-operation" is the agricultural demonstration trains which travel all over the Cotton Belt Lines. Every topic, including rotation of crops, stock raising, dairying, fruit and truck growing, etc., is taken up. The equipment of these trains combines an agricultural school and farm demonstrations on wheels, carrying stock, crops, machinery, etc.

The lecturers are always professors from the agricultural colleges or experiment stations, or farmers noted for their success along any line.

This work not only means much to the farmer, but is of real significance to the business which locates along the Cotton Belt Route—for the prosperity of the farmer means prosperity for business.

The Cotton Belt Route is particularly fortunate in traversing a territory rich in soils and favorable in climate. The winters are mild and short; the lands are very fertile, and cost about half what such lands would bring in older sections—and the rainfall always plentiful.

A series of booklets, written by practical farm men (illustrated with scores of actual photo pictures) will be sent to anyone free on request. We will also send you a booklet outlining the Cotton Belt Route's policy of practical co-operation with farmers. Write for them today.

MS. CECIL DUDLEY GREGG has sent out invitations for a tea at her new home in Brentmoor Park, which she will give Monday at 4 o'clock, in honor of her cousin, Miss Marion Frances Howard, who is one of the debutantes of the season. TOBACCO FACE HABIT

A very interesting book has been published on tobacco habit—how to conquer it quickly and easily. It tells the dangers of excessive smoking, chewing, snuff using, etc., and explains how nervousness, irritability, sleeplessness, weak eyes, stomach troubles and numerous other disorders may be eliminated through stopping self-poisoning by tobacco. The man who has written this book wants to genuinely help all who have become addicted to tobacco habit, and says there's no need to suffer that awful craving or restlessness which comes when one tries to quit voluntarily. This is no mind-cure or temperance sermon tract, but plain common sense, clearly set forth. The author will send it free, postpaid in plain wrapper. Write, giving name and full address—a post card will do. Address: Edward J. Woods, 594 Sixth av., 7th E., New York City. Keep this advertisement, it may prove to be the best news you ever read.

Former St. Louisan Succumbs on Dakota Missionary Trip.

News has reached St. Louis of the death Saturday while on a missionary trip in the Dakotas of the Rev. Carl Mueller, 59 years old, of Saginaw, Mich., formerly of St. Louis. He was a son of the late Rev. Gottlieb Mueller, for 15 years pastor of St. John's Evangelical Church in St. Louis.

CITY SALESMAN FOR ARMOUR PACKING CO. PERSONALLY INDORSES PLANT JUICE

Mr. Joseph F. Peters Jr., of St. Louis, Tells Here What the New Remedy Has Done for Him.

Another well-known St. Louis man who indorses Plant Juice is Mr. Joseph F. Peters Jr., who resides at 1950 Gay avenue, East St. Louis, and has been a resident of this city for thirty-one years. Mr. Peters is the popular and well-known bookkeeper and city salesman for the Armour Packing Co., and has been with that firm for eleven years. In speaking of his experience with Plant Juice, he said:

"I have suffered considerably with my stomach for some time. There was a most disagreeable belching of gas after eating and a bloated feeling; there were short, shooting pains in my stomach, and in the mornings a very bad taste in my mouth. My circulation was bad and I had a chilly feeling at times and my feet would get cold. I had to select my food with great care, and even then my stomach troubled me. I was nervous and restless at night and did not sleep well, especially after a hard day's work. I had tried several things without much result when a friend suggested Plant Juice. I got a bottle and took it according to directions, and it has helped me wonderfully. It has improved me fifty per cent in every way and I feel like a different man. I can certainly recommend Plant Juice to any one."

Plant Juice strengthens and builds up the entire system. It helps the circulation, clears the blood of impurities, eradicates biliousness and malaria. It tones up the stomach and digestive organs so that you can eat what you like and enjoy it without fear of bad after-effects. It stimulates the liver into healthy action, corrects constipation and regulates the bowels. If you are not well get a bottle from the Plant Juice man at the Wolff-Wilson Drug Co. store, and if it does not help you he will return your money.—ADV.

For INDIGESTION

It is so much wiser to take the proper remedy than to let the trouble continue, that you ought to act without delay. Indigestion robs you of your strength, of your sleep, of your power to work or to enjoy the natural pleasures of life. If it lasts—if your food is not permitted to nourish you—serious sickness is almost certain to follow. This may cause you more intense suffering and cost you a great deal of time and money to cure. But Beecham's Pills will help you to overcome the trouble safely, surely, quickly, before harm is done. This great world-remedy is famous for the lasting good it does as well as for its immediate tonic effect upon the stomach and other organs of digestion.

BILIOUSNESS

is a common form of Indigestion. It shows that poisons are being formed in the intestinal tract. Headaches, poor appetite, restless nights, bad dreams, sour taste, coated tongue, sallow skin, nervousness are among the symptoms of Biliousness. Beecham's Pills relieve these distressing conditions by removing the cause. Purer blood, sounder nerves, clearer brain, brighter spirits will be yours when your system has been cleansed of impurities and your stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels toned and regulated by

GOOD ROADS MEN TO ASK CONGRESS FOR $25,000,000

Senator Bankhead Prepares Bill Which Convention Delegates Here Will Pass Upon.

PROTEST AT LONG RIDE

Gov. Major and Others Criticize Selection of Suburban Garden for Convention Place.

Gov. Major and other delegates to the National Good Roads convention now being held at Suburban Garden are looking for the man who conceived the idea of having the meetings take place in a summer garden in the winter time, and 45 minutes from Broadway.

Although the sessions are held in an inclosed pavilion, many of the good roads boosters believe they would be more comfortable in a downtown hotel or hall, and practically all of them are complaining about the long street car rides to and from the convention. These rides, they say, consume all of the time they had hoped to have to see the city.

"It was a great mistake to have the convention so far away from the business center of St. Louis," said Gov. Major. "I don't know who chose this location, but I'd like to find out."

At Tuesday's session only about 100 delegates were present. On motion of J. A. Rountree of Birmingham, Ala., Gov. Major was appointed chairman of a committee to call on the Governors of all the states to set apart certain days in each year as Good Roads days.

$25,000,000 Fund Is Sought.

Delegates Tuesday began consideration of plans by which it is hoped by the promoters of better roads an appropriation of at least $25,000,000 may be obtained from the Government. The definite plan was submitted in a bill prepared by Senator H. Bankhead of Alabama, which he expects to introduce in the Senate if it meets with the approval of the delegates to the convention.

This bill provides for an appropriation of $25,000,000 to be apportioned among the several states for good roads purposes in proportion as they appropriate money for the purpose. It is planned to require states to obtain as much money for work within their borders as the Government appropriates to them.

Under the terms of the bill, as originally drawn, Missouri would receive $1,500,000 from the Government, and would be required to appropriate a like amount to obtain the money from the Government.

Delegates to the meeting said Tuesday that nearly all their number favored Government aid for good roads, and that the details of the system to be advocated formed the only question.

Although many bills of a similar nature have been introduced in Congress, all have been defeated, Congress having taken the position that each state should build its own roads.

Many Speakers on Program.

Those scheduled to speak on the Federal appropriation bill are Senator Bankhead, Prof. J. M. Lowe of Kansas City, president of the National Old Trails Association; John Craft of Mobile, Ala., president of the Alabama Good Roads Association; Jesse Taylor of Jamestown, O., editor of Better Roads; J. A. Rountree of Birmingham, Ala., secretary of the United States Good Roads Association; State Highway Commissioner Frank W. Buffum of Louisiana, Mo.; Richard Johnson of Chillicothe, Mo., and John W. O'Neil of Birmingham, Ala.

Mayor Kiel Tuesday delivered an address of welcome, which was responded to by D. W. Potter of Arizona.

Tulsa Delegation Comes to Get the Best Convention.

Fifty boosting business men from Tulsa, Ok., arrived in St. Louis Tuesday morning to attend the Good Roads convention and endeavor to capture the 1914 meeting for their city.

The party came in two special Pullmans on the Price and will be followed Wednesday by another party of 13 or 15. The Tulsans have opened headquarters in the Planters Hotel and are organizing for the convention.

In the party are Mayor Frank M. Wooden, Eugene Lorton, editor of the Tulsa World and chairman of the delegation; Col. Sidney Burgess of Ardmore, State Highway Commissioner for Oklahoma; representatives of Tulsa's eight banks, commercial club and other commercial organizations. Tulsa is now building a $125,000 convention hall to seat 800 persons.

J. Burr Gibbons, president of the Tulsa Press Club and assistant director of publicity of the recent Dry-Farming Congress, is a former St. Louis boy. He was business manager of the Commerce Monthly.

Company of British Players Angers Kirsksville Residents.

KIRKSVILLE, Mo., Nov. 11.—The Ben Greet players, composed largely of British actors, now visiting colleges and universities and giving Shakespearean plays, are persona non grata in Kirsksville since their action in pulling down an American flag before they gave a performance here. President John E. Kirk of the Kirsksville Normal School announced that the Greet company can never appear again in the normal school while he is the head of it.

Just before they opened the production here the company's electrician turned out all the lights and the big American flag which hangs over the auditorium platform was lowered by the actors.

Oldsmobile Silence

When you take your first ride in this wonderful new Oldsmobile, you will be impressed with its absolute quietness. Not only is the motor silent, but even that slight jar and vibration which in other cars you have been told could not be eliminated, has been conquered completely. This has been accomplished by close attention to many apparently small details that makers of other cars have not considered sufficiently important for their attention.

For instance, the gasoline tank is divided into several compartments, so that splashing cannot affect in the slightest the perfect balance of the car. To travel in the Oldsmobile is to arrive at your destination fresh and unwearied. Whether the distance be a short trip through the busy city streets, or a road tour of a thousand and one miles, the same sense of luxurious comfort is always uppermost. It is well worth a call at our salesrooms to look over this "greatest of all sizes."

Her Neighbor's Advice

"I was hurt in an accident," says Mrs. A. C. Lease, of Tribune, Kansas, "and suffered from an ailment peculiar to women. I had sore spots all over, and they said I had nervous prostration. We spent over $100 in doctoring, but I was not helped. I could not sleep or eat—could not raise my head from the pillow. One of our neighbors recommended CARDUI, and my husband went 8 miles through a blizzard to get it. CARDUI saved my life, for I was soon able to get up, and could sleep all right. Now I am getting along fine, and do not suffer any more. I am a friend to CARDUI and recommend it to all."

Fluffy Raffles, the Mysterious Bread Girl, Still at Large.

She Will Attire in Blue Suit This Evening. Who Is Going to Win the First Award of $50.00?

for those who even held close communication with her as she was driven about town Saturday evening could find her in the crowd, even though they went over the masses with a fine tooth comb.

BY THE LEADER BREAD GIRL.

Well, to begin my narrative of yesterday's doings, I started out looking the city over and visited the shopping district. By the way, her is a good tip for the salesladies and salesmen. During my visit in St. Louis I will visit the stores every day, so my advice is always have in your possession a label from the Maneval Bread bread. If you think you recognize me, flash the label and give me the correct salutation as per condition. It may win you $50. My first visit was at the Famous Barr Co. where I had a pleasant chat with Mrs. Kemp in the picture department. Another pleasant miss I met was Miss Hansman at the hosiery section. At the Grand-Leader I met Miss Lily in the suit department. She may remember me talking about some black skirts. At the fur department I met a young gentleman who gave his name as Mr. Broida. This gentleman may recall me looking at a tiger skin and asking him if the tiger wasn't cross eyed. "No," he replied, "it's just the vicious look they have." At my early evening appointment I was escorted by a young girl, and to my great surprise, she had the salutation right but did not have any bread labels. I asked her where her label was. She replied that her sister had it and was on the other side of the street. Now, please remember the salutation, and don't forget to have a label of the Maneval Bread bread in your possession and hold it in full view at the time you accost me. This little girl would have been the winner of $50 last evening had she shown me the label of the Maneval Leader bread. At my late evening appointment I was not accosted although several people called out to me as I went by.

THE LEADER BREAD GIRL'S ENGAGEMENTS.

Tuesday, between 12 and 1, she will be at corner of Olive and Eighth streets. Between 7 and 8 she will be at corner of Grand and Shenandoah; between 8:15 and 9:15 she will be at corner of Grand av. and Natural Bridge. At both these evening appointments the Leader Bread Girl will attire in blue to assist in her capture.

WEDNESDAY'S ENGAGEMENTS.

Wednesday, between 12 and 1, she will be at corner of Sixth and Olive; between 7 and 8 she will be at corner of Jefferson and Lafayette; between 8:15 and 9:15 she will be at corner of Union and Easton. At these appointments she will drop several notes, each note will entitle the finder to $1 in cash if presented at the Maneval Bread Co., corner of Lami, S. Broadway.

Fluffy, Fluffy, where art thou! was the slogan of the hundreds who swallowed their dinners in a jiffy and got down to her evening appointment in time for the disappearance of this young lady. It was a case of now you see her and now you don't.

When you accost me, say this "Pardon me, you are the mysterious Leader Bread Girl of Maneval Bread Co., I like your bread." If you are right you will at once receive $50 in gold. This evening at both my evening appointments I will attire in blue. A splendid chance to win some easy money.
